

CHANGE! This is a word that the media has used over and over again for the past several months. It is what political candidates are calling for as they express their disapproval of past and current decisions that are affecting our everyday life. With the word change has come promises of positive actions that supposedly will bring about that change; promises that most of us wish could happen, but deep down, realize there is little that just one person can do. Change seldom comes easily.

But one thing the JUBILEE promises won't change, is the many opportunities the JUBILEE holds for you, your family and your employees. The JUBILEE will continue to bring you a wealth of knowledge from the workshops; the opportunity to exchange information with other industry professionals; and, the ability to keep up with the ever changing products, practices and technologies of your business.

We will always be facing change --change that affects our businesses, our families and everything in our everyday lives. But there is another part of the JUBILEE that won't change --the availability of plenty of time for fellowship with your family, friends and co-workers, as well as time to visit with the manufacturers and suppliers of the equipment and services you use. I urge you; please don't miss out on these wonderful opportunities. I guarantee you will not get a better "bang for your buck" anywhere. I look forward to seeing you at Myrtle Beach for the 2009 South Atlantic Well Drillers JUBILEE!
